LOCAL PUPILS BEGIN VACATION FROM SCHOOLS

3900 Pottstown Children
Start 3-Month Holiday;
Due Back Sept. 3

More than 3900 Pottstown public school pupils left their classrooms yesterday afternoon with a little more enthusiasm than usual as they began the annual three-month vacation from teachers and homework.

Except for a brief return visit on Wednesday to receive their report cards, the pupils will not come back to their desks and tests until September 3.

School principals and their administrative staffs will remain on the job during the summer, making plans for the 1952-53 school year. Dr. George A. McCormick, superintendent, announced that 340 children have been registered for kindergarten classes next fall, an increase of 22 over the past year.

Many Pottstown churches are sponsoring two-week daily vacation bible school classes this month. The first one will start Monday at the St. John's Lutheran church, Stowe, and continue from 9 a. m. to 11:15 a. m. daily until June 20, under the direction of the Rev. George F. Eichorn, pastor. Children between the ages of 3 and 11 may enroll.

CHURCHES WHICH will hold classes from June 16 to June 27 during the morning hours are as follows: Baitzell Evangelical United Brethren church, children 5 to 13, under the direction of the Rev. John L. Smoker, pastor; First Brethren church, children 4 to 15, under the direction of the Rev. Ralph R. Frey, pastor; Emmanuel Lutheran church, children 4 to 14, under the direction of the Rev. John L. Smoker, pastor.

Drive Initiated For Memorial in L. Pottsgrove

Lower Pottsgrove township road board of supervisors is initiating a drive to raise $500 to build a new memorial made of stone in memory of the men and women who served in World War II to replace the old wooden monument which was recently demolished at the Sanatoga Chapel grounds.

The memorial, blown down in a storm the past February, was beginning to rot from the long years it was exposed to the weather, and the new memorial will be made of stone so that it won't deteriorate as quickly, the road board reported.

The old memorial contained the names of almost all of the men and women who served in the armed services. The new memorial will only list the names of the two men who

Cloudy, Warm Predicted Today

The fogging humidity which water-logged area residents yesterday will disappear tonight.

It will be cloudy and warm this morning and the mercury will inch to 85 or 90 this afternoon. But the weatherman predicts possible showers and a cool breeze by this evening. Fair and cooler are forecast for tonight and tomorrow.

Thermometers sizzled to a weekly high of 88 yesterday afternoon, but the record 101 reading of June 6, 1925, wasn't even threatened. The coldest June 6 on the books was recorded in 1945 when the mercury tumbled to a damp 46.

Farmers who have alfalfa to cut and corn to plant welcomed the warm, dehydrating weather of the past several days.

Monkey Enjoys Freedom—Until Food Is Offered

Jenny tasted freedom in a High street maple tree last night and probably still would be enjoying it if she didn't have a weakness for bananas.

The small 16-month-old monkey from southern India escaped from her display window home in the Frederick J. Greenly pet shop at 503 High street about 7 o'clock and resisted all attempts for an hour to rout her from the tree.

Morris Boughter, 51, of 540½ Apple street, coaxed her for more than 20 minutes with a chocolate popsicle, but Jenny descended from the tree's foliage only far enough to grab some of the popsicle, and shove it into her mouth, then retreated to the safety of the high branches.

Raymond R. "Pidgie" Kepner, an employee of a nearby auto agency, bought a banana at a grocery store and Boughter tantalized Jenny with that.

After Boughter gave her two or three pieces of the banana, Jenny developed a desire for the rest of the fruit and descended to a point where Boughter could catch her.

When Boughter returned the monkey to the pet shop window, Greenly offered him a reward, but Joseph Bogdon, 39, of 120 Fourth street, East Greenville, was going west with a truck loaded with scrap when he collided with the sedan. Both vehicles were traveling in the middle of the street.

Bogdon said he couldn't pull over to his right because of parked cars. He thought the approaching sedan was going to pull over to his left and park, so he kept going.

THE SEDAN'S front end was damaged, but no estimate of the damage was available.

Two Motorists Exchange Blame

Two Pottstown area motorists blamed each other for an accident at 10:10 o'clock last night on Neiffer road, a half mile north of Route 422, Limerick.

Frank J. Hall, 30, of Pottstown RD 3, a borough policeman, told investigating State policemen he was traveling north in a 1946 station wagon with his wife, Ruth, when the 1949 sedan of Paul Wentzel, 52, of 317 Elm street, Stowe, sideswiped his vehicle.

Wentzel, who was driving south with his wife, Elizabeth, claimed Hall was at fault.

The left sides of both vehicles were damaged, but no estimate of the damage was available.

Values Are Flexible These Days

Karl R. Stone, jeweler at 210 High street, jokingly illustrates what he thinks about the current high price of potatoes by displaying a spud with a $500 price tag on it and a paltry diamond valued at $100 in his window. When he finished placing the valuables in the window, Stone said: "If they don't eat potatoes for the next few weeks they can buy a diamond!" With the suspension of ceiling prices on white potatoes, some observers believe the price of spuds will soar next week, but others feel the price will decrease as potato suppliers flood the market with potatoes they have withheld because of the ceilings.

STRIKERS AGREE TO GIVE TRUCKS ACCESS TO FARM

Injunction Hearing Off
In Funk Fruit Case
As Lawyers Concur

An injunction hearing on the three-week-old strike on the Funk fruit farms, west of Boyertown, was avoided yesterday when a stipulation was made by attorneys representing the union and attorneys representing Mrs. Smith's Pie company.

The stipulation was that striking workers of the now idle apple-slicing department on the farms would permit pie company trucks to have free access to apples stored in the Funk warehouse.

The strikers retained their legal rights to peaceful picketing and persuasion but were specifically forbidden to rely on intimidation, coercion, threats and, of course, outright violence.

The stipulation was read in open court in Berks county courthouse, Reading, by the secretary to Judge Warren K. Hess. The agreement was reached after an hour-long conference in the judge's chambers. No actual hearing had to be held.

REPRESENTING the strikers was Louis Sager, Pottstown attorney, assisted by Attorney Edward Youngerman, Reading. For the pie company attorneys were John S. Rhoda and Ralph C. Body, Reading, and William A. O'Donnell Jr., Pottstown.

Approximately 12 workers, and Ben Ardalan, field representative of Amalgamated Tobacco, Food and Allied Workers (CIO) were on hand for the scheduled hearing. Ardalan and four strikers had Horace B. Gulden, a man who has been close to borough problems since 1929, last night was approved as new borough manager of Pottstown. A man with an engineering and administrative background, Gulden has served as borough manager of Lewistown since 1946.

Gulden Has Handled Variety of Problems

By FRED C. SELBY
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Horace B. Gulden, who was endorsed last night as Pottstown's new borough manager, is a big, outspoken man whose 24 years of engineering experience have ranged from handling municipal problems very much like Pottstown's to drawing fresh water from the Pacific.

Standing an inch over the 6-foot mark and weighing 225 pounds ("That's too much; gotta get it down"), Gulden will be 45 years old July 25, six days before he expects to take over the new job in Pottstown.

He and his wife, Virginia, expect to move to Pottstown from Lewistown, where he has been borough manager since 1946. Lewistown, in Mifflin county, is very close to the center of Pennsylvania. It has a population of about 14,000, or about 9000 smaller than Pottstown's.

He and his wife, the widow of a Lewistown attorney, were married in 1949. She is a sister of Charles McCabe, publisher of the New York Daily Mirror.

Most of Gulden's adult life has been spent in municipal engineering and administrative work very similar to the work he'd do in Pottstown. In Lewistown, he has held the titles of borough engineer and borough secretary, as well as borough manager.

During World War II, he was in charge of developing a water supply on Guam in the Pacific. Original plans called for a wartime population of 80,000 on the island. There were 250,000 when he left.

HIS BIGGEST problem in Guam was getting fresh water from the north half of the island. It was solved by drilling through coral to the ocean itself. A huge "bubble" of fresh water was floating on top of the salt water, and the fresh water was pumped upward.

Gulden, who has been in Pottstown in connection with his job application, did not have the "everything-is-so-lovely" attitude of many new office holders.

"There's a terrific amount of work to be done down there. It's an old town. But

Horace Gulden Named As Sears' Successor

By ROBERT E. HOYER
(Mercury Staff Writer)

A new borough manager was approved unanimously by council last night.

Horace B. Gulden, a native of Carlisle, and borough manager of Lewistown for the past five years, was named to succeed Dow I. Sears, who will resign because of failing vision.

Council, at a dinner session in Clover Leaf restaurant, voted to retain Sears as an advisor to the new borough manager.

Earl R. Strange, chairman of council's borough manager committee, Burgess William A. Griffith and Peter J. Lawler were appointed to inform Sears of the change and request he remain on the borough payroll at a reduced salary.

Strange, head of the six-member committee named by council this past Feb. 15, said 12 candidates had been interviewed for the job.

"We boiled it down to this man," he explained, "because he seems to have all the qualifications required for running the borough's business. I went to see him, talked with 15 other people in different walks of life in Lewistown and learned he was highly rated by the citizens there."

To Graduate
In Reading

Seven Pottstown boys and girls and one Stowe boy will be among the graduates from Reading Central Catholic High school tomorrow at 7:30 p. m., it was announced yesterday.

The commencement program will be held then in St. Paul's Catholic church, Reading, where the baccalaureate service will be held tomorrow morning at 7:30 o'clock.

Baccalaureate will be followed by a Communion breakfast, served by members of the Junior class in Berkshire hotel.

The eight are: Margaret Mary E. Flemming, daughter of Mrs. George H. Wann, 932 Queen street; Anthony Giangiacomo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Giangiacomo, 15 North York street; Henry Lucchi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pomery L. Lucchi, 544 King street.

David McCarthy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCarthy, 65 North Hanover street; David Repko, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Repko, 221 Queen street; Earl Schaeffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schaeffer, 83 Cedar street; Joan E. Tighe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Ambrose Tighe, 518 North Charlotte street, and Anthony Zangrilli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zangrilli, 621 Glasgo street, Stowe.

Lucchi and McCarthy plan to attend Eastern Military academy, Long Island, N.Y., next year. They were varsity football players, as were Repko and Giangiacomo. Giangiacomo

Walter L. Murphy, Knauertown owner of the Murphy Bus Lines whose Birdsboro to Pottstown route will be discontinued this afternoon, will be invited to meet with the Chamber of Commerce some time next week in the hope arrangements can be made to keep the route in operation.

A. E. Willauer, chairman of the Chamber's Mercantile bureau, said last night he and C. J. Keiser, the vice chairman, are arranging the meeting either for Monday or Thursday morning in the Chamber's offices in the Security Trust building.

Willauer said the proposed session is the result of a meeting yesterday morning of the Bureau's executive committee to discuss the discontinuance of the route. Members of the committee have expressed concern over the effect on borough business of the route's abolition.

"It not only affects business," Willauer said, "it affects the town. Anything that hurts business hurts Pottstown itself."

Murphy said last night the last bus on the route to leave Pottstown will depart "about 4 o'clock, whatever the schedule is."

When I play with my cat, who knows whether I do not make her more sport than she makes me?—
Michael de Montaigne.

William the Delayer

FABIUS the Delayer was a famed Roman general.

William the Delayer is Burgess of Pottstown.

William Griffith, the Burgess of Pottstown, promised to meet with the borough highway committee before the next meeting of council to straighten out the kinks in a street construction ordinance he vetoed.

Week upon week has passed since Burgess Griffith made his promise to meet with the highway committee to explain some changes he'd like to make.

He never met with the committee.

He never explained his reasons for vetoing the ordinance, except to say he felt it was too tough on the little man.

If his past performance is anything to go on, he probably has no intention of meeting with the committee.

Burgess Griffith is one of the most stubborn obstructionists who ever has occupied office in Pottstown borough hall.

He's "agin" everything that looks constructive to the other side. He still goes around town bragging that he was one of the most obstinate holdouts against public housing. As if it were an honor.

Why don't we have good streets?

Burgess Griffith has placed himself on record against good, improved streets in Pottstown. He was one of the persons who helped defeat a bond issue, for street improvements at the November election.

Over his signature letters were sent out to Pottstown voters.

Over his signature he said: "I suggest the defeat of this bond issue, sending it back to borough council to be thoroughly worked out and be re-submitted for your consideration."

William the Delayer was at work again. He's adept at asking for re-consideration and he's smart at asking for amendments. He's most expert in throwing obstructions in the path of progress.

Burgess Griffith likewise makes grandstand plays by saying he delays things "for the good of the little man."

But the "little man" is not fooled by his playing of party politics, nor is the "little man" fooled by his associations.

A few days ago, Burgess Griffith met with Pottstown builders and approved their adoption of a street ordinance.

Is the Burgess going back on his word to meet with the highway committee and suggest changes?

Or is the Burgess going to side with the "little man" as he has emphasized over and over?

Who writes the laws? Council or private interests?

What kind of a code would the Constitution of the United States have been if every jealous interest in the country had been permitted to include clauses beneficial to their respective hides?

William the Delayer may meet with the borough's highway committee to explain what changes he has thought up. But he has only a few days to meet with the lawmakers. Borough council meets Monday.

It is likely William the Delayer will have nothing constructive to offer in the way of how to build new streets for Pottstown.

He most likely won't meet anytime with the committee.

Some Pottstown councilmen are miffed, some are downright angry, at an incident related to the better-street ordinance.

When Pottstown's builders wrote their suggested law, they wanted to get their suggestions around to councilmen this week IN A HURRY.

Know how they delivered their messages?

Their letters were DELIVERED PERSONALLY BY POTTSTOWN POLICEMEN, who drove around to councilmen's homes. IN POLICE CARS!

That's right! At taxpayers' expense, this private organization delivered its message!

No wonder Pottstown councilmen are burned up!

It's carrying conyism a little too far!

Heartbreaking Situation

To the Editor: A heartbreaking situation has developed, and I guess I just won't feel right if I don't enter a real protest against cruelty to animals.

While we realize that kittens are plentiful at this time of the year, we think there are much more humane ways to get rid of them than running over three of them with a car!

At the top of Poole Hill, near Pine Forge, some heartless fiend did just that.

Makes you wonder, doesn't it, just what kind of retribution such a person will receive in the world to come.

Maybe some sort of remorse will keep such an individual awake for a few hours... but we doubt it.

Whether we look at people or cats, we know they have feelings.

We are stirred to indignation when we see a life of any kind at the mercy of some mentally deranged destructive derelict of decent pet-loving and life-loving society.

Fairer Assessment Needed

To the Editor: Was glad to see the tax equalization committee has made a concrete step toward equalization of assessments.

I'm one of those poor suckers who bought my house after the war and my assessment is higher than a lot of folks who own a much more expensive home than I do.

I've always paid my taxes in time. And I don't mind paying my share of the bill, but it burns me to a crisp when I see people in the older sections of town paying lower taxes than I do.

Certainly if my assessment was lower than it should be I would be one of the first persons to admit it. Pottstown needs reassessment worse than anything I know of.

Why shouldn't your taxes be based on the proportionate value of your property?

Some people don't believe in the law of logic. Some people don't believe in the law of fair play. That's what I say about people who are against reassessment.

If Pottstown want to continue in growth, to continue attracting industry and more people, reassessment seems a prerequisite.

Pottstown HEAVY TAPAYER

What's the Idea?!

To the Editor: I thought I had seen everything, but when I read that the government has taken the price lid off white potatoes, just when they're scarce and higher prices are in the offing, I just blew up.

I can understand releasing controls on items in good supply. That's one way to get rid of government interference.

But to wait until the supply is virtually nil and then take off controls, brother, that's so stupid I can't think of the right word for it!

Maybe the old saying, "Whom the gods destroy they first make mad," is true so far as the Administration is concerned.

WASHINGTON

Army Chiefs Worried Over Defense Slowdown

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, June 6—Behind Truman-Eisenhower optimistic reports on growing American military strength in Europe, Korea and the United States lies a deep but unacknowledged concern among Pentagon realists over the serious slowdown in anti-Russian rearmament at home and abroad. With ideal fighting weather approaching, the promised coalition of democratic forces amounts to only a paper army.

General Eisenhower's survey of western capabilities in conferences with the Joint Chiefs of Staff emphasizes that fact. He found his colleagues severely critical of the snail-like progress which the United States has made since the start of the two-year warfare in Korea.

His New York friends, including Bernard M. Baruch, have warned of politico-economic delays in the domestic output of weapons, especially planes and tanks.

Eisenhower himself admits that he was able to build only the framework of a defense structure. His contribution to allied efforts overseas was mainly psychological, and psychology does not win battles.

Unlike President Truman and Secretary Acheson, he sees a long and hard road ahead before the pacts incorporating Germans in an international defense organization have any battlefield importance.

Meanwhile, should the peace talks in Korea break down, the situation there will be far more grave than Washington has informed the American public. We will be outmanned, outgunned and outflown. Our naval superiority may disappear, if Stalin sells or leases his new-type submarines to the avowed enemy.

FACTS: General Mark Clark's forces may hold the line at the 38th parallel against a foe two-and-a-half times as powerful, numerically. But the casualties among American troops, who constitute more than 80 percent of the U.N. defenders, will be terrific. Our only battle-trained veterans in uniform would be badly mauled.

Mid-year progress reports reveal that, under the current program, the United States and its even weaker allies will not be ready to wage even a successful defensive operation against the Russians for three years. These alarming facts have been published abroad, and, of course, they are known in the Kremlin.

Despite official pronouncements to the contrary, military experts say it is still true that Moscow's armies could sweep to the channel ports within three or four weeks. The allied soldiers now spread out from the Baltic to the Balkans are sufficient to serve as only a thin skirmish line. Worst of all, there are now no reserves to reinforce this delaying and holding unit.

As of today, there are only seventeen United Nations divisions, plus one regiment of Norwegians, Dutch and Danish troops, scattered throughout that whole area.

The six American and four British divisions are crack and well-equipped outfits, although few have been tested in battle. There are five French and two Belgian divisions along the northern sector.

VETERANS: The Reds have 22 divisions in East Germany alone. Unlike our soldiers, they are veterans who have been retained in the service since World War II days. Behind them there are at least 200 divisions of Russian and satellite fighters. They are disposed in such a way that they could be shifted swiftly to the western front.

With Japan disarmed and China in his camp, and with Balkan satellites supplying protection to the south, Stalin could afford to throw his full weight against Europe without fear of attack from any other quarter.

Our supposed atomic superiority, which is credited by Churchill with having staved off a Soviet assault, might not avail us in this sort of contest.

THE WORRY CLINIC

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

ELI M., 89, is Mrs. Crane's father. Let's get him a television set for his birthday. I suggested shortly before his 89th milestone.

"Since he now lives alone on the farm, I think it would be a lot of company to him, especially during the evenings."

So we surprised him with a television set. And he has certainly enjoyed it.

"Dad, how do you like the programs?" I asked him a few days ago, when we were down at the farm over the weekend.

"Some of them are fine," he said, "but most of the stuff is trash."

Later our youngest son, said, "But Grandpa always watches the television every night. If the programs are trash, why does he look at them?"

THAT HAS long been the argument in both radio programming and television. They have rationalized their defects by citing Hooper ratings.

But in the TV field, many homes can't tune in on more than one station with any degree of clarity.

So it is either that station or nothing. And even though some of the programs are "trashy" as Grandpa Miller describes them, they add some action to an otherwise quite, lonely evening.

Furthermore, the TV can't appeal to everybody at the same time as a newspaper does.

For example, some of you members of the family scramble for the comic pages of this great newspaper. Others want the first section with Page One news.

The more studious members of your family look at the editorial page and read features like this one or the medical column.

Furthermore, you aren't forced to spend time with the ads, though most housewives regard them as one of the most interesting parts of this newspaper.

On TV and the radio, however, you find it almost impossible to skip the commercials. For those two mediums coerce their followers by their advertising.

Since TV and radio commercials are compulsory to a large degree, they should at least be sugar-coated, as we physicians sugar-coat our pills.

The great flaw in modern advertising has been in radio and TV commercials. They haven't been varied or dramatized adequately!

However, advertising copy can really be made fascinating. You can inject narrative and dramatics into what is now dry, boring commercials.

"But we must mention our company's name 13 times in our three minutes of commercial," a radio executive protested to me.

PRESTO, CHANGO

Hollywood

By EDITH GWYNN

HOLLYWOOD, June 6 — Farley Granger tears himself out of that Paris penthouse next week to return here for the lead opposite Jane Powell in "Small Town Girl."

Beverly Hills, daughter of Joan Davis, has a role in this too—along with Billie Burke and Fay Wray, to whom the years are more than kind... It may surprise Farley (and then again it may not) to note how things are going with Shelley Winters and V. Gassman — when he gets "master-minding" on Shelley's part maybe?

"The Korean Story," co-starring both Bob Mitchell and Ann Blyth, finished some time ago. Emerges next month as "One Minute to Zero" — and will get a fancy Hollywood premiere. It'll be a big night for Ann Southern, whose best beau, Richard Egan, has one of the leads.

PRETTY TANIS Chandler and Paul Mills just parented a baby girl... Eddie Foy, Jr., still grieving over the death of his beautiful wife, checks in today for a comedy lead with Betty Grable, Dale Robertson and John Carroll in "The Farmer-Takes-A-Wife." Carroll will add some of his super-caroling to the big All-Star benefit for the Paraplegics here June 7th. Jane Russell, Marie Wilson, Josephine Baker appear too. (If there's room on stage for the last three named.)

IDA LUPINO, who has a rough time of it ever since her baby's birth, is up and around now... It's fine that there was such a terrific turnout of civic and cinema celebs for the Syrian-Lebanon testimonial dinner honoring Danny Thomas. No one deserves it more... ALL AROUND THE TOWN

Shooting Star...

★ PRE-FABS—A team of Pottstown brothers-in-law are getting underway with the first sizeable pre-fabricated homes project in the borough. Allen Schlosberg, Sanatoga, is general manager of Pottstown Home Builders Incorporated. A brother-in-law, Morris Hoffman, 860 North Franklin street, is an investor-partner but is not taking an active part in its operations. Hoffman is partner in the New York store. The new outfit is authorized representative of Gunnison Homes, a subsidiary of U. S. Steel. Two homes have been completed on North Franklin street, between Grace and Mineral streets. Two more will be finished soon, and there eventually will be seven there. The outfit also will erect a group at another borough location.

SHOOTING STAR—Mrs. Paul C. Evans, Pottstown RD 2, near Titlow's Corner, reported that she had sighted an unusual shooting star at about 12:15 a. m. yesterday. She said she had been unable to sleep and had gotten up to look out a window facing Pottstown. What seemed to be a star hurtled downward, she said, and then broke up into different-colored lights. Mrs. Evans said she was fairly sure it was a star rather than a rocket... GIVE AWAY DEPT.—Collyie, male, five months old. L. P. Graffius, 808 Spruce street 'phone 257-J.

★ SELLER—Sol Cutler, former Pottsonian, is reported to have sold his Pottsville hotel and is said to be headed to Florida. Cutler was a local guy who went into the Army from Pottstown, spent many years overseas... This councilman's light treatment of a cure for hiccups the other day drew a reply that hiccups, as a disease, can be serious. If your hiccups don't leave after using the most sensible of the common methods for relief, call a doctor immediately. Hiccups can be a symptom of a more serious disease. Do you know what's behinds breathing into a paper bag as a remedy? This returns exhaled carbon dioxide to the lungs and carbon dioxide stimulates the respiratory areas of the brain, which are involved in hiccups.

Class of '47 Skits Highlight PHS Alumni Summer Dance

School days, with all their fun, were relived last night by members of the Alumni association of Pottstown Senior High school at their Summer dance and program, this year presented by the class of 1947.

"Oh How I'd Love to go Back to School" was the humorous theme of the show's most popular number, presented by the "Sexy-tettes," dressed in little-girl costumes, with their hair in pigtails or tied with large silk ribbons, the girls reminisced in melody about the "good old school days."

Mr. David Detar was master of ceremonies for the program, which was viewed by more than 400 alumni. He introduced all the skits, which ran the gamut from serious song to raucous hillbillies.

Mr. Frank Kurtz, pianist, accompanied Mrs. Isabelle Hartman, who presented vocal solos, followed by a hillbilly skit, depicting the lazy cartoon backwooders.

Another humorous skit in the highly popular show featured Mr. Leonard Bernhardt and Mr. Linwood Oliver. Finally, there was a pantomime parody of a Spike Jones recording, "Cocktails for Two."

BEFORE THE PROGRAM a short business meeting was held in charge of the president, Mr. Aubrey Missimer. Reports were heard from the recording secretary, Mrs. Mabel Flickinger; financial secretary, Mrs. Mildred Moyer, and treasurer, Mr. Gurney Biehl.

As the audience, which included 50 members of the graduating class of 1952, watched, Miss Elizabeth K. Ware, an honorary member of the association, presented roses to special guests, members of the classes of 1892 and 1902.

Representing the 1892 class were Mr. Byron Hunsberger of Norristown, and Mrs. Hunsberger, and Mr. Herman Shell of Philadelphia. Mr. Charles Gilbert represented the class of 1902.

Short addresses of welcome were given by Dr. George A. McCormick, superintendent of schools; Mr. Stanley I. Davenport, principal of the Senior High school, and Mr. Joseph Moyer, retiring president.

After the meeting Don Reed and his orchestra presented music for the dance.

In charge of the entertainment was Mrs. Jean Hollenbach. The cast included: Mrs. Sarah Ann Davidheiser, Mrs. Dorothy Cannell, Mrs. June Gunderman, Mrs. Dorothy Prutzman, Miss Eleanor Mock, Miss Dorothy Kurtz, Miss Yvonne Trollinger, Miss Sara Jane Capp, Mrs. Betty Harp, Miss Marjorie Stofko, Mrs. Nancy Guest, Mrs. Doris Callow.

And Mrs. Janet Bernhardt, Mrs. Hartman, Mr. Detar, Mr. Bernhardt, Mr. Oliver, Mr. Raymond Davidheiser, Mr. Robert Jones, Mr. Thomas Weber and Mr. Robert Miller.

Five years after graduation from Pottstown Senior High school, six members of the class of 1947 prove that nothing can make them grow old! With singing (not classical style), dancing (minus that necessary asset—grace), and an altogether riotous act, the young women told how they would like to go back to school. Pictured above, (left to right), are Miss Eleanor Mock, Miss Sarah Jane Capp, Miss Margie Stofko, Miss Yvonne Trollinger, Mrs. Leonard Bernhardt and doll; and Miss Dorothy Kurtz.

PARIS, June 6 (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden today was elected chairman of the ministers' council of the Organization for European Economic Co-operation (OEEC).

lided with them.

TOBIN, AN honor pupil at Reading Central Catholic High School, died three hours later in Pottstown's Memorial hospital from a fractured skull without regaining consciousness.

Miss McElroy died instantly. She had been a pupil at the North Coventry High school.

In addition to Wynn, two passengers in his car were hurt. They were Louis Dolente, 18, Royersford RD, and William C. Adams, 13, of Limerick.

Wynn, who lives at Royersford RD, where his parents operate a farm, spent 17 days in Memorial hospital in a coma. Then he was removed to Pennsylvania hospital, Philadelphia.

Jeffersonville State Trooper Clem Seroski, one of the two officers who investigated the accident, was the only Commonwealth witness today.

HE ASSERTED that Wynn and his companions were returning from the Ringing Rocks skating rink, about a mile away from the scene, when the defendant started to pass another car near the crest of a hill and traveled over to the left side of the highway, causing the crash.

He merely told the most essential facts of the case during his brief stay on the stand.

As Assistant District Attorney Bernard E. DiJoseph announced to the court that his case was closed, Defense Attorney Harold Spencer nudged Wynn to the witness stand.

Limping, because of an injury to his right leg in the accident, Wynn ascended the stand, but his answers to questions put to him by Spencer were difficult for the court to hear.

He was unable to speak clearly he said, because he has not fully recovered from five fractures of the lower and upper jaws which he sustained in the accident.

"Do you remember anything personally about the accident?" inquired Spencer.

"No."

"What is the last thing you do remember prior to the collision?" "Only that afternoon."

AFTER GIVING his occupation as "truck driver," Wynn informed Spencer and Judge Knight that he remembers nothing about the night of Feb. 10 except what has been told to him by Dolente and Adams. After he pronounced sentence, Judge Knight reminded Wynn that he could have given him six years in jail.

"David, I've given you a very lenient sentence. I've tried to do my duty," he said.

were killed in action during World War II.

Frank Borneman and Wilmer Knight, both of Sanatoga and both killed while serving with the Army Air corps, will be the only two names engraved on the plaque.

THE MEMORIAL will stand about 7 feet high. It will have a center portion about 6 feet wide with wing walls about 3 feet wide on either side.

The cement walk which was used for the last memorial and the shrubbery which surrounded it will remain.

John Saylor, head of the road board, reports that the Civil Defense council and many other interested citizens were instrumental in pressing for the drive to raise funds to build the proposed new memorial.

He said that the drive will last about one or two weeks and that the sooner the money is raised, the sooner work will begin.

Burglar Confesses Entering Home of Widow in Reading

One of two burglars charged with entering the home of Mrs. Helen M. Bidden, widow of the former operator of the Snow White Bleachery in Royersford, and stealing $190,000 from a strongbox, pleaded guilty to charges of burglary, larceny and receiving stolen goods yesterday in the Berks county district attorney's office.

Paul E. L. Baer, 25-year-old ex-convict from Reading, was charged with burglarizing Mrs. Bidden's home at 44 North Tenth street in Reading about the past March 22.

The burglary was discovered by Mrs. Bidden on March 23 after she returned to her home from a weekend visit.

Baer waived trial on charges of stealing $1000 in cash, jewelry and other valuables from three other Reading homes.

An accomplice whom Baer identified as Joseph Greely, 39, also of Reading, is still at large.

been served with notice of the hearing Thursday afternoon by Berks County Deputy Sheriff Warren Meilly.

The strike of about 30 workers began after two truck drivers for Funk were laid off. Sheldon W. Funk, orchard owner, said the move was necessary to cut costs. Strikers implied it was a result of the fact that the drivers were taking part in the organization of workers.

The hearing was scheduled after disputes over the removal of apples, which ordinarily would have been sliced by the workers, has led to Funk's calling for State and local police escorts for the trucks.

A HEARING will be held Monday night at 8 o'clock before Justice of the Peace Charles E. Templin, Douglas township, for the employee of the Sheldon W. Funk Fruit farm, Gablesville, who has been charged with spraying poisonous material on three striking employees.

Lester Kulp, an employee at the fruit farm, was charged with spraying three striking employees of the Funk apple-slicing plant with a poisonous chemical spray—parathion—used on trees in the orchard.

A warrant charging Kulp with assault and battery by spraying poison on humans was served on Kulp this past Tuesday night by Walter W. Grainger, Amity township constable. The warrant was issued by Templin.

Louis Sager, borough attorney, will represent Mrs. Ella Stauffer, New Berlinville; Mrs. Sadie Cleaver and Mrs. Erma Trout, both of Boyertown RD 1, who claimed Kulp dosed them with spray.

The women, who were serving on the picket line at the plant, said they were sitting in the shade of a Spruce tree eating potato chips when Kulp came by in a speed sprayer. All received varying amounts of spray, they asserted.

They were treated by Dr. Charles L. Dries, Eschbach physician.

Kulp was released after $500 bail was provided by Funk before Justice of the Peace Earl H. Keim, Boyertown.

Slate 4-H Clubs Reach New Crests According to Report

Maintaining an unbroken record of annual gains since the close of World War II, 4-H club work reached another new high in Pennsylvania the past year, County Agent R. G. Waltz reports, on the basis of "New Horizons," annual report of the Agricultural and Home Economics Extension Service.

In dealing with 4-H work, the report embraces the 4-H program in Montgomery county and all other counties in the State. This work, together with that under the companion Senior Extension club program, represents Extension's educational service to rural young people.

In 1951 project enrolments in agriculture totaled 13,001, and in homemaking, 15,763, for a total of 28,764. This compared to a total of 25,341 in 1950. Senior Extension clubs increased their rolls from 2994 to 3116, for a combined enrolment with 4-H, of well over 31,000.

These gains were made despite interruptions and obstacles resulting from the prevailing emergency. The report states: "This attests to redoubled interest based on the belief that 'head-heart-hand-and-health' training gives boys and girls the kind of help that is urgently needed in these times."

TWO OF these 31,000 youths "served world good will" as International Farm Youth Exchange delegates to Switzerland and Mexico. The 4-Hers also helped play hosts to youth delegates to this country from other lands.

These youths held 14,451 club meetings with 328,240 total attendance. They learned parliamentary procedure and developed skills in leadership as a part of their "learn by doing" program which also includes project work in all of the various lines of agriculture and homemaking.

Plant Fertilizer Should Be Used With Caution

Be careful when applying chemical fertilizer to growing plants. Do not get the fertilizer on the foliage, otherwise the chemical salts in the fertilizer are apt to burn the foliage upon contact.

A safe method of applying chemical fertilizer to plants is shown in the accompanying graph.

Make a trench around the plant as illustrated. Place the fertilizer in the trench, but keep it from three to four inches away from the plant stems. Water the fertilizer well to soak it into the ground, then replace the soil.

It is always best to feed plants after a rain, but if this is not possible, then water them well both before and after feeding.

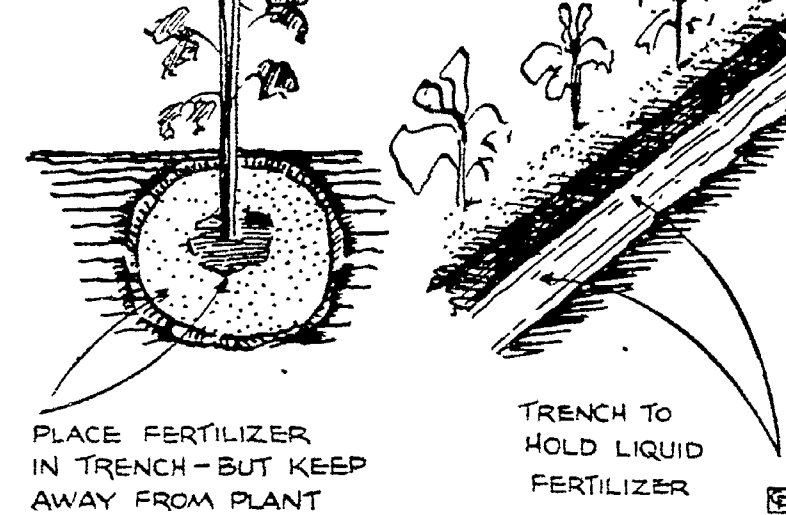

PLANTS DO NOT consume solid food. Roots can only absorb water, and whatever is put in the soil that is not soluble in water is of no avail.

Dahlias, gladiolas, chrysanthemums or other flowering plants are often planted in rows for cutting purposes. An effective method of feeding flowers when thus planted, is illustrated.

Dig a shallow trench along each side of a row of plants. Then a liquid fertilizer can be poured into the trench by means of a sprinkling can, after which the soil should be replaced.

It is better to make several feedings of a weak solution of fertilizer than to apply only one that is excessively strong.

Two 4-H Club Boys to Represent County At Leader Training School June 23-27

Two 4-H club boys will represent Montgomery county at Pennsylvania State college at 4-H Leadership Training School, June 23-27. Albert Kriebel, Lansdale RD 2 represents the Worcester 4-H club, while Lowell Rothenberger, Lansdale RD 2, represents the Montgomery County Dairy Club.

Both boys are president of their respective clubs. Leadership Training school is designed to give rural young people further training which will help them to think more independently and clearly and cooperate more effectively, both as individuals and as members of a group. Candidates have been chosen because of their keen interest in working and doing for others and for their club.

Pa. Officials Are Watching Poultry Virus

HARRISBURG, June 6 — Pennsylvania farm officials are keeping a close watch over a new disease that has invaded the State's big poultry industry.

The ailment is called "air-sac disease," and is designated by veterinarians as a "chronic respiratory" affliction.

Jules Horst, State agriculture secretary, says the disease has "the serious attention of specialists in the department's animal and poultry laboratory" here.

"Our poultry pathologists estimate that mortality averages about 10 percent in flocks where the disease has struck, and in many instances there have been reports of 25 to 40 percent mortality," Horst stated.

HORST SAID the disease is a virus infection resembling Newcastle disease and infectious bronchitis.

"The coming of warm weather, plus increased use of reliable antibiotics in feed, should help bring relief from the disease," Horst said.

No estimate of the number or size of flocks affected is available, but State farm officials say the disease is known to exist in practically all sections of Pennsylvania.

The disease gets its name "air sac" disease because it affects tiny sacs in the lung and abdominal cavities of chickens and other fowl. The sacs inflate with air as an aid to flying. The virus causes these sacs to fill with fluid and the bird becomes ill.

Larvae of European Pine Shoot Moth Hurt Trees But Can Be Controlled, Agent Says

The larvae of the European pine shoot moth, which attack the terminals and new lateral shoots of most common varieties of pine, can be controlled, reports County Agent R. G. Waltz.

Pines in plantations, nurseries and ornamental plantings often are seriously injured by this pest, and young trees up to 20 feet tall are most commonly infested.

Injured shoots may bend out of shape but continue to grow. Buds and shoots are killed easily by the feeding of these larvae. Under this condition, adventitious buds are developed which result in bushy or broom-like tips. This injury not only retards the growth of the tree but also causes permanent malformation. These insects overwinter as larvae in the buds. The adult moths emerge and lay eggs near the tip of the twigs in June. The best time to control this pest is, and immediately after the eggs hatch and before the young larvae have a chance to bore into needles and buds.

If a record of sales is kept in the roadside stand or market, it will help to plan the production for next year, Herbert McFeely, Penn State extension marketing specialist, points out. It will give an idea on what was profitable, too.

Contest Announced To County Dairymen

Letters and application forms have been mailed to 506 Montgomery county dairymen, livestockmen and poultrymen announcing the 1952 Green Pastures contest.

All entry blanks must be returned to the PMA office by June 30, 1952. Any farmer who has not received an entry blank may secure one from the PMA office.

Only the small fruited varieties of cucumbers should be grown for pickling.

Plentiful List Features Broiler, Fryer Chickens

So many broilers and fryers are expected at June poultry counters that they are a second featured item on the plentiful list. Turkeys, too, will be in good supply.

Also suggested for June main dishes are fresh and frozen fish. Eggs will be in excellent supply during June and are a third featured item of the plentiful list.

Dairy products will be at or near peak abundance for the season. Salad oils and cooking fats also will be among leading June grocery items.

Elks Win; No-Hitter Tips Jrs.

— ELKS —
By JOE MUGH

Like a steamroller equipped with free-wheeling, the City-Industrial league's front-running Elks hit and ran their way to a whopping 11-0 victory over the strangely puncheon Amvets last night before 200 fans at Franklin field.

Windmilling Len Ricketts stopped the Vets (1-3) cold on two hits and chipped in vigorously as his team clubbed two pitchers for 14 blows to gain its fifth win without reversal. Victory left the Montgomery Lodge a full game and a half up on its nearest pursuer.

Ricketts hammered a two-run homer, a double and a single in three appearances, while Jim Howard also delivered a four-base whack and John Hallman put together a pair of doubles and a single in four tries. The Vets contributed seven boos afield, and played grade school defense when the Elks started running to swipe five bases, including home.

Nor were the Elks strictly business. They found time for a jigger or two of clowning by clowning princes Ace Corum and Len Trollinger, and continued to send up pinch hitters to halt rather than perpetuate rallies.

Corum served in the latter capacity, whiffing with grandeur, with two aboard, two out in the fifth.

WHEN SHORTSTOP Eddie Eckert and second sacker Mickey Misner did an Alphonse-Gastone act to permit Hallman's short blooper to fall for two bases to lead the Elks' first trick at bat, the handwriting was on the bulkhead for the Vets.

Hallman got around on Dick Ricketts' single as the giant Duquesne university basketball basebatter made an auspicious debut. Dick scored on a following boot at second base to make it 2-0 with an inning gone.

Another pair crossed in the second when Len Ricketts pumped his running homer to right center after Bob Reis had dropped Howard's fly in the same sector.

It was a two-run effort again in the fourth when an error gave Bobby Mauger a lead, and a theft, an error and a strikeout got him home before Howard unloaded a tremendous home-run triple to right.

The Elks made it downright insulating by scoring five times in the sixth on Len Ricketts' double and singles by Hallman, Dick Ricketts, Trollinger and Mauger, along with an assortment of three stolen bases and two errors. Trollinger and Mauger worked a double theft to get one run.

The Vets threatened only once Mule Davidheiser led the fifth with a triple and Reis was safe on an error. But Ricketts got Galen Royer on a bouncer to first and whiffed Misner and Bob Yerger to end it.

Jack McArthur, a newcomer, started and lasted two innings against the fancy stepping Elks Royer finished up.

Ford Juniors Top Perk, 6-2, Take League Lead

Royersford Legion moved into an early lead in the Montgomery County league race last night by trimming Perkmen, 6-2, at East Greenville as Gene Lincoln slammed a three-run homer and Frank Walters pitched stifling six-hit ball.

It was the second straight win for the Fords, who had beaten North Wales last week and Perkmen's second loss. The Perks bowed, 3-0, to Pottstown here Wednesday.

Lincoln gave the Fords all the cushion they needed when he

SM, Cubs Land To Gain Ground On Graterford

Spring Mount and Ringing Hill gained ground on idle league-leader Graterford last night by scoring impressive Pottstown Suburban league victories.

The Mounts, sparked by homers by Ken Nace and Bob Kulp and triples by Harry and Art Landis, clubbed Linfield's Sportsmen, 13-3, at Spring Mount; and Ringing Hill, trimmed Sanatoga, 9-2, at Ringing Hill. Other action saw Royersford and Gilbertsville play to a 3-3 standoff at Gilbertsville.

The Mounts scored six times in the first inning on the pair of triples, Elmer Meng's single, Paul Peiffer's double and Nace's homer. That was enough to win. Russ Meyers started and got the pitching win, while Sam Landis finished up.

Ringing Hill spotted Sanatoga a 2-1 lead, then exploded for five runs in the third inning to make Nels Weidenbaugh's three-hitter good for his third straight win. Weidenbaugh, Frank Babel, Charlie Moses, Tony Lucarelli and Herb Harner had two hits each for the winners.

Royersford scored twice in the fifth inning to force a tie in its game with Gilbertsville. Emidio Cinciripino and Herb Carl pitched two-hit ball for seven innings for the Fords, but got in trouble on nine walks.

It was announced last night Swamp had dropped out of the

By GARY TROLLINGER

By far the coolest thing around in last evening's stifling atmosphere was southpaw Ferrill Alderfer of Souderton's debuting Legion Juniors.

The curve-balling lefthander put the dampers on the defending state champ Pottstown Juniors, no-hitting the Amoles, 1-0, at Souderton. Alderfer, no blazer by trade, was in top form, mixing a variety of slow breaking stuff with an occasional fastball, and he had the Pottstown batters completely and helplessly confused.

There just wasn't a hard hit ball fastballs high and far over the left off the stick of any of the local batters, with the possible exception Slaweck, who had singled, and Bill of Carl Horner's high fly down the Drauschak, who had forced the singling Lou Alexander, were aboard at the time.

Royersford bagged two more runs in the fourth before Walters loosened to permit a Perk run in the same frame on hits by Bob Meyers and Ron Lester. The two teams traded single shots in the last inning.

Drauschak and Gerry Keyser led an eight-hit Ford assault with two blows each, while Lester had two for the Perks.

Alderfer faced just 22 men, one over the limit. He didn't give up a base on balls or hit a man and would have had himself a perfect game had it not been for shortstop Bob Shisler's boot of Lee Hallman's two-out bouncer in the fifth.

Hallman was the lone Pottstown batter to reach base.

DAVE REIDENOUE, Amole hurler making his '52 Legion debut, was no slouch on the hill himself, but allowed the victors to bunch two of their four hits in the third frame for the run that beat him.

Jim Bergey, Souderton third sacker, opened the deciding rally the deciding tally as the Moose toppled the Redbirds, 4-3, in a tense battle of City Southall league underdogs at Franklin field annex.

Gonder's blow broke a 3-3 knot after the Moose had squandered an early 3-0 lead. It made a pitching winner of Tony Kozlowski, a surprise starter for the Moose, which also boasts ace Al Roen among its hurlers.

Kozlowski gave up only six hits and stayed out of trouble save for the third and fourth innings when the Birds rallied for three runs. Pettit got two of the Bird blows to lead the losing attack.

The Moose cuffed two Redbird pitchers for 11 blows, but failed to group them. Every Moose player hit safely at least once, while Ottaviano and Mike Saraceni had two blows each.

ALL-STAR POLL OPENS; PRIZES ARE OFFERED

Pottstown area fans will be given the opportunity to go to bat for their favorite major leaguers for the next three weeks as The Mercury collects ballots for the American and National League All-Star teams that will compete at Shibe Park July 8 in the annual classic.

An official ballot will appear on the sports pages of the Mercury today through June 26, when the poll closes. Fans may vote as many times as they choose, but must vote players into their regular positions.

It will not be necessary to use the ballot in The Mercury. Fans may submit votes on postcards or in letters or across the counter at The Mercury office.

As an added incentive to voters in the poll, The Mercury is offering two valuable baseball prizes. The ballot that most nearly approximates the STARTING LINE-UPS at game time will earn its author an all-expense trip for two to Philadelphia and either an A's or Phillies game of his choice.

The second best ballot will draw two tickets to any A's or Phils game of choice.

FANS MAY vote for one player at each position, except pitcher. Manager Leo Durocher of the Nationals and Casey Stengel of the Americans will select the pitching staff.

Outfield votes should be cast for the position the man is playing today.

The eight players on each team will be required to start the All-Star game and remain in the lineup for a minimum of three innings, unless injury or illness prevent.

Vets Visit St. Gabes

The Amvets will mix with St. Gabriel's of the French Creek league tomorrow afternoon, at 2 p.m., on the West Pottsgrove High diamond.

Offer of Wage In Steel Hinted

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—A second day of management-union talks aimed at settling the Nation-wide steel strike which started Monday ended tonight without any reported progress, but the two sides agreed to meet again tomorrow.

There was no official confirmation of reports that the industry had made a new wage offer, or was about to, to the CIO Steel Workers union headed by Philip Murray.

"We met at one, and it is now one minute after 6," Murray said as the session recessed. "We are scheduled to meet tomorrow morning at 10 A. M. We have nothing further to say."

He made the comment, he said, on behalf of all six negotiators—three from management and three from the union.

John A. Stephens, a vice president of U. S. Steel and one of the industry's negotiators in the peace talks, was asked to comment on reports that the industry has made

Western Union Asks Permission to Boost Rates for Pay Raise

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—The Western Union Telegraph company today asked Government permission to boost its domestic telegram and money order rates by an average of 9.3 percent so it can give its workers a pay boost.

It asked the Federal Communications commission (FCC) for increases which would generally add from five to ten cents to the present cost of sending a 15-word telegram.

The higher rates will go into effect in a month, on July 6, unless the commission holds that they are unreasonable or decides to hold hearings on the basis of customer complaints.

When a new contract was agreed upon three weeks ago to end a 53-day strike against Western Union by members of the AFL Commercial Telegraphers union, it included a wage increase subject to two conditions.

ONE WAS that union members approve the contract in a referendum. They have done so. The other was that the company win government approval of a rate hike. The union agreed to join in the request to the FCC.

Throughout the long negotiations with the union, the company contended that its revenues under the existing rate structure just wouldn't permit it to grant a wage boost.

It estimated that the increase it sought today, together with rate hikes on its other services to be filed later, will add about $13,200,000 to its annual revenues. It told the commission it needs that amount to pay its employees the promised wage boost and for "other increases in labor costs incurred since last July."

The last Western Union rate increase, averaging about 9 percent, was approved in September, 1951.

Today's request, the company said, embraces authority to raise telegraph press rates about 6 1/2 percent.

Senate Ratifies Farm Appropriations Bill Of 1 1/2 Billions After Beating Cut Proposal

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—The Senate passed with a shout of approval tonight an annual farm appropriation bill assuring more than 1 1/2 billion dollars for Government farm programs during the year beginning July 1.

The bulky measure now goes back to the House for consideration of Senate increases of more than 115 million dollars. Roughly the Senate bill provides about the same amount of money voted for the current year.

Just before passage the Senate beat down 35 to 23 an effort to cut 100 million dollars from payments to farmers co-operating in soil conservation programs.

This left the total at 250 million to be paid on next year's crops.

Backers of the proposed cut said soil conservation was something a good farmer would do without any subsidy, and noted that some major farm organizations had recommended reducing or eliminating such payments.

Opponents of the reduction said the Nation's greatness depends on the fertility of its

RUSSIA RECALLS AMBASSADOR TO UNITED STATES

New Man Named Puts State Department on Spot; Shift Is Surprise

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—Russia has recalled its ambassador to the United States, Alexander S. Panyushkin, and has named Georgi Zarubin, former ambassador to Canada and Britain, to replace him.

This surprise diplomatic shift put the State department on the spot, for this reason:

Zarubin was Soviet ambassador to Canada in 1946 when a huge Russian spy ring with roots in the embassy was uncovered. It was alleged to have stolen some atomic secrets.

Despite this, it seemed virtually certain the State department would approve Zarubin's nomination within a few days. The White House was reported to have given the State department a "go ahead" after considering the appointment for hours.

The blond curly-haired Panyushkin broke the news about his departure to reporters at the State department after a 25 minute call on Secretary Acheson.

"I am leaving for my homeland in connection with a new appointment," he said through an interpreter.

Panyushkin, a frequently bitter critic of American foreign policy, has represented Russia as ambassador here for nearly four and a half years.

He flatly refused to say anything about what he called his new assignment. He said only that he was leaving the United States "forever" and that "I am very happy about it."

Afterward, speaking before newsreel and television cameramen outside the State department, he added:

"I would like to express my really friendly feelings toward the American people."

30 Taft Delegates Indicated in Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS, June 6 (AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio appeared tonight to have won 30 of Indiana's 32 delegates to the Republican national convention.

At the same time Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, national manager for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, rejected in Washington a suggestion made here by Taft to compromise the disputed Texas delegation to the Chicago presidential nominating convention.

In a speedy maneuver here, Taft forces put together a slate of delegates to be acted on officially by district caucuses tonight and the state convention tomorrow which contained only one avowed supporter of General Eisenhower.

He is publisher Eugene G. Pullman of the Indianapolis Star and the Indianapolis News. He was unopposed in the Eleventh district, along with William Hutcheson, former president of the AFL-Brotherhood of Carpenters. Hutcheson has remained neutral in the presidential race.

Outside of these two, only Taft supporters complied with a party rule to file their candidacies and pay $500 each into the party treasury before a fixed afternoon deadline. The $500 fee helps pay costs of the State convention.

Edwin Steer Sr., treasurer of the State Republican committee, said State law requires such filing. He added that no candidate who had not met the requirement could run in district caucuses choosing 22 delegates or in the State convention, electing ten at large tomorrow.

Some Eisenhower supporters insisted they didn't know of these requirements.

Rep. Charles Halleck who was the State's favorite son candidate in 1948 before he swung to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, told a reporter he tried to put his money up before the deadline but found the door of the office of State GOP Chairman Cale J. Holden was locked.

Halleck, who has taken no part in this year's presidential contest, thus was left off the delegate slate.

Penna. Delegates To Hold Talks With Taft, Eisenhower

HARRISBURG, June 6 (AP)—Gov. John S. Pine said today he will arrange meetings of the big Pennsylvania delegation to the Republican national convention with Dwight D. Eisenhower and Ohio's Sen. Robert A. Taft, leading contenders for the party's presidential nomination.

The governor said arrangements for the meetings complied "with the wishes of General Eisenhower and Senator Taft."

"The meetings will be arranged at early dates and the delegates and alternates will be given ample notice," Pine said.

Pine made the announcement in a statement a few hours after a possibility developed that Eisenhower might meet the State's 70-member delegation at his nearby Gettysburg farm next Friday.

HE SAID then his immediate plans were limited to a conference Sunday with Eisenhower in New York and that the subject of a conference with the delegation might be discussed then.

The governor issued this statement: "I have been advised that General Eisenhower would welcome the opportunity to meet the Pennsylvania delegates to the Republican national convention."

"Sen. Taft, has likewise asked to meet with our delegates."

"I am certain the delegates and alternates all of whom conscientiously seek to fulfill their responsibilities in the best American tradition, will approve my action in promptly complying with the wishes of General Eisenhower and Senator Taft."

YOUR GEM STORY FOR TODAY

VACATION TIPS

Naturally, the first step is to plan just where you want to go. To dad, any place would be pleasant away from that 50 week grind at the office. It doesn't matter to Mom either, as long as its not over that hot stove. And Junior is perfectly happy as long as he is not in school. So you see any resort is satisfactory as long as it provides that needed change.

Now one word of caution! Do not take your expensive jewelry with you unless safe facilities are provided for the handling of that jewelry. So many cherished items have been lost or stolen from beach bags and camping equipment.

Then too, don't leave your jewelry home in your new jewel box on top of your bureau. Even the most amateur thief will spot this. You know, it always has seemed foolish to us why people buy jewel boxes and place them on top of the dresser. They might just as well attach a sign which reads, "Here is my jewelry, Mr. Second Story Man. Just put this case under your coat and walk out the back door. No need to search further."

Naturally, your watch is vital on your vacation. You shouldn't be without one; except when you are in swimming. If your anxiety gets the best of you at the beach, and you do forget to remove the watch before taking that plunge; always take it to a capable jeweler immediately. The hours you save may mean the life of your watch. If a jeweler is not within reach, take the entire watch and place it in a bottle of alcohol or gas. This will prevent rust and will spare you the price of a new watch.

Probably these few tips have still not helped you to make up your mind on "where to go this year," so we'll leave you with just this one thought. Before you go on your trip, sit down and figure this out. First figure how many clothes you will need and how much money. Then take along half that many clothes and twice that much money and you will have the time of your life.

See you next Saturday, W. L. Stone, R. J. Gemologist.

'Go Home Yankee,' Japanese Reds Cry In Anti-U. S. Rally

TOKYO, Saturday, June 7 (AP)—Japanese Communists held an anti-American rally in downtown Tokyo Friday, then paraded peacefully away shouting "Go Home Yankee" at passing U.S. soldiers.

About 5000 of them jammed into Hibiya hall, a block from United Nations headquarters, then listened to Communist members of the Diet (parliament) denounce the presence of U.S. troops in Japan.

Japanese riot police in blue helmets stood by to prevent disorders. The police and correspondents were barred from the hall.

Loud speakers blared, carrying the words of the Red law-makers to the crowd outside. The speeches were replete with such phrases as:

"We demand U.S. troops leave Japan." "Japanese police are now serving foreign masters." "Down with the Yoshida Government who are puppets of American imperialism."

Then the Communists poured from the hall, locked arms and marched to a nearby railway station singing Red songs. They shouted "Go Home Yankee" as they passed two trucks of U. S. soldiers dressed for combat.

At the station the crowd broke up without disorders.

Four Youths Start Trip To Alaska by Hearschback

WOOSTER, Ohio, June 6 (AP)—Sourdoughs can believe their eyes. That sign they are seeing on the side of a hearschback is correct.

It read, "From Wooster, Ohio, to Alaska by Hearschback." The four Wooster youths inside hope it turns out just that way.

When last heard from, the four 18-year-olds were at Calgary, Alberta, headed for the Alcan highway.

Three of the youths—Vic Dix, Scott Craig and Bob Wilson—are recent high school graduates. Ed Eberhart, the other man in the party, just completed his freshman year at the College of Wooster.

He has no ambitions to act and has avoided that field ever since he left the stage.

GULDEN'S CAREER —

It's expanding, and it seemed to me to be rather progressive... I think the job will be a challenging one."

Gulden's father was a public school administrator. During the son's childhood, the father was principal of schools in Waynesboro, Tamaqua, Chester and Carlisle.

FOR A brief time, the father left the education field after he became "pretty well disgruntled" with machine politicians in Chester, but returned to take the job as principal in Carlisle, where he lived until his death in 1940.

The son said attending schools of which one's father is principal, provided no special advantages, and had the disadvantage of making one an object of persistent scrutiny.

"I really had to keep my toes straightened up," he recalled.

Gulden was graduated in 1928 from Gettysburg college with a civil engineering degree. From 1929 until 1934, he was assistant to Carlisle's borough manager.

For the next year, he did graduate work at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, receiving a master's degree. He worked for two years as a consulting engineer in Boston, Mass., during the latter years of the Depression ("It wasn't very stable employment"), then returned to the municipal field.

BEFORE WORLD War II, he was in charge of engineering work and management of the water works at State College (the town). During the war, he landed on Guam right behind the Marines.

Since 1938, Gulden has been a registered professional engineer in Pennsylvania. He is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, American Water Works association and the International City Managers' association.

He holds a lieutenant commander's commission in the Naval reserve, civil engineering corps.

Gulden apologized because he didn't have any hobbies or any non-professional "joining tendencies." He added that it's probably too late to start now.

East Nantmeal Church Will Open Bible School

The Daily Vacation Bible school in East Nantmeal Baptist church, the Rev. John W. Sandiford, pastor, will open its second week on Monday morning, at 9 o'clock. The closing exercises will be held Sunday night, June 15, at 8 o'clock. There are 48 children enrolled with nine teachers in three departments. The school opens at 9 a. m. weekdays.

THE HOURS OF YOUTH

Time once loomed larger in your life than it does now. An hour once seemed "a real long time." That was when you were young.

Today when you "spend" an hour either profitably or wastefully you are parting with only a tiny fraction of your life. But, then, you were investing or squandering a large portion of your most important asset.

On this obvious truth rests the vital importance of childhood religious training. Faith and moral character grow most rapidly in the formative early years. And the beliefs and habits acquired in those "big" hours of our childhood are not easily crowded out by the multiplicity of worldly concerns which overflow our later days and years.

Every hour you devote to the religious training of your child, going to church with him, reading Bible stories to him, sending him to Vacation Church School, helping him to live and work and play by the best code, will strengthen your own character—and mold his!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For their own sake. (2) For the sake of their community and nation. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs its moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

A 17-YEAR-OLD Birdsboro youth suffered brush burns and a possible fracture of the right wrist when his motorcycle lost a wheel and turned over on First street last night at 8 o'clock.

William F. Shirey Jr., of 518 East First street, was driving the small-sized motorcycle east on First street near Furnace street when the accident occurred.

He said the front wheel of his recently purchased second-hand cycle fell off, and it overturned. He was driven by a friend to St. Joseph's hospital, Reading, where he was treated for brush burns of the left elbow, right hand and arm, and a possible fracture of the right wrist.

Shirey will return to the hospital this morning for X-rays of the wrist.

When I play with my cat, who knows whether I do not make her more sport than she makes me?—
Michael de Montaigne.

William the Delayer
FABIUS the Delayer was a famed Roman general.

William the Delayer is Burgess of Pottstown.

William Griffith, the Burgess of Pottstown, promised to meet with the borough highway committee before the next meeting of council to straighten out the kinks in a street construction ordinance he vetoed.

Week upon week has passed since Burgess Griffith made his promise to meet with the highway committee to explain some changes he'd like to make.

He never met with the committee. He never explained his reasons for vetoing the ordinance, except to say he felt it was too tough on the little man.

If his past performance is anything to go on, he probably has no intention of meeting with the committee.

Burgess Griffith is one of the most stubborn obstructionists who ever has occupied office in Pottstown borough hall.

He's "agin" everything that looks constructive to the other side. He still goes around town bragging that he was one of the most obstinate holdouts against public housing. As if it were an honor.

Why don't we have good streets? Burgess Griffith has placed himself on record against good, improved streets in Pottstown. He was one of the persons who helped defeat a bond issue, for street improvements at the November election.

Over his signature letters were sent out to Pottstown voters. Over his signature he said: "I suggest the defeat of this bond issue, sending it back to borough council to be thoroughly worked out and be re-submitted for your consideration."

William the Delayer was at work again. He's adept at asking for re-consideration and he's smart at asking for amendments. He's most expert in throwing obstructions in the path of progress.

Burgess Griffith likewise makes grandstand plays by saying he delays things "for the good of the little man."

But the "little man" is not fooled by his playing of party politics, nor is the "little man" fooled by his associations.

A few days ago, Burgess Griffith met with Pottstown builders and approved their adoption of a street ordinance.

Is the Burgess going back on his word to meet with the highway committee and suggest changes?

Or is the Burgess going to side with the "little man" as he has emphasized over and over?

Who writes the laws? Council or private interests?

What kind of a code would the Constitution of the United States have been if every jealous interest in the country had been permitted to include clauses beneficial to their respective hides?

William the Delayer may meet with the borough's highway committee to explain what changes he has thought up. But he has only a few days to meet with the lawmakers. Borough council meets Monday.

It is likely William the Delayer will have nothing constructive to offer in the way of how to build new streets for Pottstown.

He most likely won't meet anytime with the committee.

Some Pottstown councilmen are miffed, some are downright angry, at an incident related to the better-street ordinance.

When Pottstown's builders wrote their suggested law, they wanted to get their suggestions around to councilmen this week IN A HURRY.

Know how they delivered their messages? Their letters were DELIVERED PERSONALLY BY POTTSTOWN POLICE-MEN, who drove around to councilmen's homes, IN POLICE CARS!

That's right! At taxpayers' expense, this private organization delivered its message!

No wonder Pottstown councilmen are burned up! It's carrying cronyism a little too far!

Heartless Killing of Kittens Stirs Reader

Heartbreaking Situation
To the Editor: A heartbreaking situation has developed, and I guess I just won't feel right if I don't enter a real protest against cruelty to animals.

While we realize that kittens are plentiful at this time of the year, we think there are much more humane ways to get rid of them than running over three of them with a car!

At the top of Poole Hill, near Pine Forge, some heartless fiend did just that.

Makes you wonder, doesn't it, just what kind of retribution such a person will receive in the world to come.

Maybe some sort of remorse will keep such an individual awake for a few hours... but we doubt it.

Whether we look at people or cats, we know they have feelings.

We are stirred to indignation when we see a life of any kind at the mercy of some mentally deranged destructive derelict of decent pet-loving and life-loving society.

Fairer Assessment Needed
To the Editor: Was glad to see the tax equalization committee has made a concrete step toward equalization of assessments.

I'm one of those poor suckers who bought my house after the war and my assessment is higher than a lot of folks who own a much more expensive home than I do.

I've always paid my taxes in time. And I don't mind paying my share of the bill, but it burns me to a crisp when I see people in the older sections of town paying lower taxes than I do.

Certainly if my assessment was lower than it should be I would be one of the first persons to admit it. Pottstown needs reassessment worse than anything I know of.

Why shouldn't your taxes be based on the proportionate value of your property?

Some people don't believe in the law of logic. Some people don't believe in the law of fair play. That's what I say about people who are against reassessment.

If Pottstown want to continue in growth, to continue attracting industry and more people, reassessment seems a prerequisite.

Pottstown HEAVY TAPAYER

What's the Idea?!
To the Editor: I thought I had seen everything, but when I read that the government has taken the price lid off white potatoes, just when they're scarce and higher prices are in the offing, I just blew up.

I can understand releasing controls on items in good supply. That's one way to get rid of government interference.

But to wait until the supply is virtually nil and then take off controls, brother, that's so stupid I can't think of the right word for it!

Maybe the old saying, "Whom the gods destroy they first make mad," is true so far as the Administration is concerned.

WASHINGTON

Army Chiefs Worried Over Defense Slowdown

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, June 6—Behind Truman-Eisenhower optimistic reports on growing American military strength in Europe, Korea and the United States lies a deep but unacknowledged concern among Pentagon realists over the serious slowdown in anti-Russian rearmament at home and abroad.

With ideal fighting weather approaching, the promised coalition of democratic forces amounts to only a paper army.

General Eisenhower's survey of western capabilities in conferences with the Joint Chiefs of Staff emphasizes that fact. He found his colleagues severely critical of the snail-like progress which the United States has made since the start of the two-year warfare in Korea.

His New York friends, including Bernard M. Baruch, have warned of politico-economic delays in the domestic output of weapons, especially planes and tanks.

Eisenhower himself admits that he was able to build only the framework of a defense structure. His contribution to allied efforts overseas was mainly psychological, and psychology does not win battles.

Unlike President Truman and Secretary Acheson, he sees a long and hard road ahead before the pacts incorporating Germans in an international defense organization have any battlefield importance.

Meanwhile, should the peace talks in Korea break down, the situation there will be far more grave than Washington has informed the American public. We will be outmanned, outgunned and outflown. Our naval superiority may disappear. If Stalin sells or leases his new-type submarines to the avowed enemy.

FACTS: General Mark Clark's forces may hold the line at the 38th parallel against a foe two-and-a-half times as powerful, numerically. But the casualties among American troops, who constitute more than 80 percent of the U.N. defenders, will be terrific. Our only battle-trained veterans in uniform would be badly mauled.

Mid-year progress reports reveal that, under the current program, the United States and its even weaker allies will not be ready to wage even a successful defensive operation against the Russians for three years.

These alarming facts have been published abroad, and, of course, they are known in the Kremlin.

Despite official pronouncements to the contrary, military experts say it is still true that Moscow's armies could sweep to the channel ports within three or four weeks. The allied soldiers now spread out from the Baltic to the Balkans are sufficient to serve as only a thin skirmish line. Worst of all, there are now no reserves to reinforce this delaying and holding unit.

As of today, there are only seventeen United Nations divisions, plus one regiment of Norwegians, Dutch and Danish troops, scattered throughout that whole area.

The six American and four British divisions are crack and well-equipped outfits, although few have been tested in battle. There are five French and two Belgian divisions along the northern sector.

VETERANS: The Reds have 22 divisions in East Germany alone. Unlike our soldiers they are veterans who have been retained in the service since World War II days. Behind them there are at least 200 divisions of Russian and satellite fighters. They are disposed in such a way that they could be shifted swiftly to the western front.

With Japan disarmed and China in his camp, and with Balkan satellites supplying protection to the south, Stalin could afford to throw his full weight against Europe without fear of attack from any other quarter.

Our supposed atomic superiority, which is credited by Churchill with having staved off a Soviet assault, might not avail us in this sort of contest.

PHIL REGAN, the town's youngest-looking grandpa, is sitting on a page one story... Harold Lang and Cara Williams has a hot debate at the Embers night before last, and in true "Pal Joey" style, he stalked out.

Sugar Ray Robinson is due to make his first recording as a vocalist after the Maxim fight. Lionel Hampton's band will back him.

Washington insiders are waging the impression that the wedding would take place as soon as Mrs. Orbach's divorce was final.

The Worry Clinic
By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

ELI M., 89, is Mrs. Crane's father. Let's get him a television set for his birthday. I suggested shortly before his 89th milestone.

"Since he now lives alone on the farm, I think it would be a lot of company to him, especially during the evenings."

So we surprised him with a television set. And he has certainly enjoyed it.

"Dad, how do you like the programs?" I asked him a few days ago, when we were down at the farm over the weekend.

"Some of them are fine," he said, "but most of the stuff is trash."

Later our youngest son, said, "But Grandpa always watches the television every night. If the programs are trash, why does he look at them?"

THAT HAS long been the argument in both radio programming and television. They have rationalized their defects by citing Hooper ratings.

But in the TV field, many homes can't tune in on more than one station with any degree of clarity.

So it is either that station or nothing. And even though some of the programs are "trashy" as Grandpa Miller describes them, they add some action to an otherwise quite, lonely evening.

Furthermore, the TV can't appeal to everybody at the same time as a newspaper does.

For example, some of you members of the family scramble for the comic pages of this great newspaper. Others want the first section with Page One news.

The more studious members of your family look at the editorial page and read features like this one or the medical column.

Furthermore, you aren't forced to spend time with the ads, though most housewives regard them as one of the most interesting parts of this newspaper.

On TV and the radio, however, you find it almost impossible to skip the commercials. For those two mediums coerce their followers by their advertising.

Since TV and radio commercials are compulsory to a large degree, they should at least be sugar-coated, as we physicians sugar-coat our pills.

The great flaw in modern advertising has been in radio and TV commercials. They haven't been varied or dramatized adequately!

However, advertising copy can really be made fascinating. You can inject narrative and dramatics into what is now dry, boring commercials.

"But we must mention our company's name 13 times in our three minutes of commercial," a radio executive protested to me.

"O. K.," I answered. "But why not vary your copy each day? Why bore us with the very same sentences?"

Hollywood

By EDITH GWYNN

HOLLYWOOD, June 6—Farley Granger tears himself out of that Paris penthouse next week to return here for the lead opposite Jane Powell in "Small Town Girl."

Beverly Hills, dotter of Joan Davis, has a role in this too—along with Billie Burke and Fay Wray, to whom the years are more than kind... It may surprise Farley (and then again it may not) to note how things are going with Shelley Winters and V. Gassman—when he gets back. To much "master-minding" on Shelley's part, maybe?

"The Korean Story," co-starring both Bob Mitchum and Ann Blythe, finished some time ago. Emerges next month as "One Minute to Zero"—and will get a fancy Hollywood premiere. It'll be a big night for Ann Sothern, whose beau, Richard Egan, has one of the leads.

PRETTY TANIS Chandler and Paul Mills just parented a baby girl... Eddie Foy, Jr., still grieving over the death of his beautiful wife, checks in today for a comedy lead with Betty Grable. Dale Robertson and John Carroll in "The Farmer-Takes-a-Wife."

Carroll will add some of his super-caroling to the big All-Star benefit for the Paraplegics here June 7th. Jane Russell, Marie Wilson, Josephine Baker appear too. (If there's room on stage for the last three named.)

IDA LUPINO, who has a rough time of it ever since her baby's birth, is up and around now... It's fine that there was such a terrific turnout of civic and cinema celebs for the Syrian-Lebanon testimonial dinner honoring Danny Thomas. No one deserves it more.

Mona Knox and Steve Crane continuing their cooing at The Crescendo, where the sweet singing of Carl Ravazza is a big hit... About those college-boy linge- raders: Dick Erdman says "They're the unspeakables in pursuit of the unmentionables."

AFTER ALL that nauseating on-again, off-again publicity about the marital status of Zsa Zsa Gabor and George Sanders, she now tells people he'll fly to Europe with her when she goes overseas to be in "Moulin Rouge"...

Martha Vickers around town, proud as all get out. Her younger brother has been decorated for heroism in Korea. He's corporal James Mac Vicar... Because they have a stork date for December, the Mario Lanza's want be heading for Europe till next year. If Lanza is going to sing with the La Scala in Milan, as widely printed elsewhere, the opera company doesn't know anything about it!

PRE-FABS—A team of Pottstown brothers-in-law are getting underway with the first sizeable pre-fabricated homes project in the borough. Allen Schlosberg, Sanatoga, is general manager of Pottstown Home Builders incorporated. A brother-in-law, Morris Hoffman, 860 North Franklin street, is an investor-partner but is not taking an active part in its operations. Hoffman is partner in the New York store. The new outfit is authorized representative of Gunnison Homes, a subsidiary of U. S. Steel. Two homes have been completed on North Franklin street, between Grace and Mineral streets. Two more will be finished soon, and there eventually will be seven there. The outfit also will erect a group at another borough location.

SHOOTING STAR—Mrs. Paul C. Evans, Pottstown RD 2, near Titlow's Corner, reported that she had sighted an unusual shooting star at about 12:15 a. m. yesterday. She said she had been unable to sleep and had gotten up to look out a window facing Pottstown. What seemed to be a star hurtled downward, she said, and then broke up into different-colored lights. If your hiccups don't leave after using the most sensible of the common methods for relief, call a doctor immediately. Hiccups can be a symptom of a more serious disease. Do you know what's behinds breathing into a paper bag as a remedy? This returns exhaled carbon dioxide to the lungs and carbon dioxide stimulates the respiratory areas of the brain, which are involved in hiccups.

SATURDAY SNICKER—A horse thief had been arrested and released on bail. His lawyer, after a thorough investigation both of the evidence and public sentiment, was convinced that the man was guilty and that any jury in the country would find him so. He returned to his client and advised:

"You haven't got a chance. All the evidence is against you. No jury on earth would acquit you. The best thing for you to do is skip out of here."

The man looked bewildered. "You mean I gotta go somewhere else?"

"That's what I've been trying to tell you," the lawyer said.

"But," asked the horse thief, "Where can I go? Ain't I already in Texas?"

SPEAKING OF TEXAS, doesn't that wide-brimmed hat of Realtor Jimmy Moore remind you of the wide open spaces Yip-ee?... Then, for a snapshot of an adult playing kiddiekar, take a glance at C. Edmund "Bud" Wells, the barrister, in that slow-slur foreign automobile he shoots around in...

The toastmaster owes his title to an old custom. Research now shows that in the days when bucks drank each other's health with wine, it was believed a sliver of toast in the wine cup improved the flavor. From that, the drinks became known as toasts. And today the toastmaster is supposed to introduce the salutations at formal affairs, even though the dinner is bone-dry.

YOUR HEALTH
By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

MANY TIMES, one disease is mistaken for another because it produces the same symptoms. However, modern tests and laboratory methods have greatly added to our ability to pick out the right ailment in such cases. We can thus unmask conditions which are similar to thyroid disorders, such as nervous disturbances, for instance.

Real hyperthyroidism is brought about by overactivity of the thyroid gland. It is usually more common in women than in men.

An excess of thyroid hormone in the blood makes the body tissues more active, so that they use up more oxygen. This, in turn, steps up the work done by the body. The general condition is called a high rate of metabolism.

Usually, people with increased thyroid activity are sensitive to heat and need few clothes and little bedding. They prefer cool weather to hot. They may have bulging eyes.

This type of person may also have an enlarged thyroid gland, together with a quick pulse rate and high blood pressure. The active gland can actually speed up his thinking, but can also make him extremely excitable and nervous, and cut down his need for sleep. His hands may shake and, if the trouble is not brought under control, he may develop a heart disease.

A person who shows an elevated metabolism, however, may not really have hyperthyroidism at all. A careful study with the many new diagnostic methods available often gives a clue to the real state of affairs. These methods include radioactive iodine, and chemical tests of the amount of iodine in the blood.

Diseases of the pituitary and adrenal glands may simulate a thyroid disorder. Many disorders of the blood, such as anemia and leukemia, may also be very similar, and the same is true for far-advanced tumors or tuberculosis. Sometimes the taking of certain drugs also simulates increased thyroid activity.

With present day advances in medical science, the doctor will not rely on the metabolism test alone when diagnosing hyperthyroidism in a patient.
